WHAT IS PURE?

PURE is the world's leading Research Information Management System powered by Elsevier, helping improve our performance with up-to-date data and analytics on research at GTIIT.

As a versatile, interoperable software solution, PURE can be configured to meet the growing requirements of our university.

PURE's industry-proven data model unearths multifaceted insights about the overall research lifecycle, supporting both fact-based decision making and industrial-strength expertise discovery.
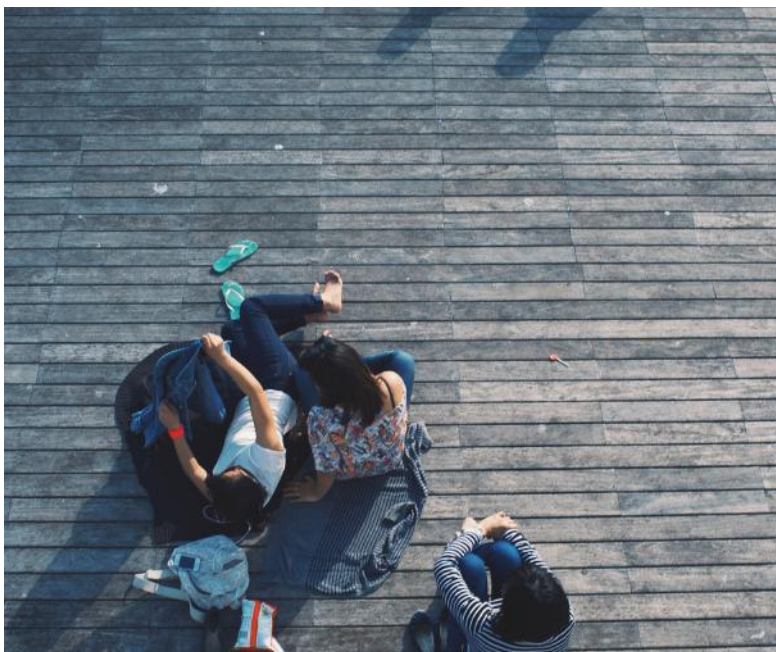

CAPTURE DATA ACROSS THE WORLD OF RESEARCH

PURE combines GTIIT's internal databases—such as HR, Finance ERP —along with external data sources such as Scopus, Mendeley, PubMed, arXiv and ORCID, plus any legacy data, into a single reliable system.

Through workflows that ensure quality and completeness, Pure captures and centrally stores a vast range of research information and relationship, including data that may not have been collected previously.

All this makes PURE a tool not only for RIGS office's research info management, but for researchers, PIs, and help promote the University's research excellence to the wider research community, as well.

System administrators can monitor research performance via a broad range of indicators, use PURE's dashboards and reporting tools for overviews and drill-downs, to make forecasts, and to benchmark against world citation averages and other factors.

Search, Discover, and Connect with Faculty and Researchers within GTIIT and the Global Experts Community
